Software For Sales

Easy, Affordable Web Order Entry

Ai2's WebWriter™ solution helps your customers connect with you and order more efficiently than ever before. You can offer your customers online ordering to increase your sales and cut down on order processing times.

WebWriter™ supports these features:

- Fast order entry from history
- Penny-perfect pricing for all your customers
- Fast order entry from your price book or customer's authorized list
- Show pictures and link to manufacturer information
- Order quickly from history
- Use order guides to promote specials
- On-screen elements profiled for different types of customers
- Excel export/import feature

No matter what type of retailer you service, WebWriter™ will give you a low-cost solution for online order entry. Your customers will now have access to all the items they can order, their buying history, special order guides, and much more. More information means better buying.

Sharing item and purchase information with your customers will enable them to build bigger and more accurate orders without the assistance of your customer service staff. Using links within the order pad directs your customer through the Web to manufacturers' product information or food nutrition profiles.

With WebWriter™ you will gain the following benefits:

- Increase sales as a sole source supplier
- Improve customer service and communication
- Reduce returns
- Cut operational costs
- Forge stronger partnerships with your customers
- Increase order accuracy

As a wholesale distributor, you now have the ability to improve the customer order entry process as well as your business operations with one solution. WebWriter™ delivers a comprehensive, flexible and affordable solution for your customers that require an online approach to generating orders.
